They stopped at Illinois for dinner, also at Buffalo and Niantic, arriving here at 7 15 o'clock. Mr. N. will return home on Monday, leaving the conveyance here for the use of his family during their visit in the city.
Dr. J. L. Connolly, of Harrodsburg, was in the city last night. He took in the Springfield races last week, and exhibited his noted trotting stallion, "Buckeye Wilkes," the handsome son of Ambassador which he values at $5,000. He says there will be a big crowd from Harrodsburg at Decatur this week.
Among the visitors to the city from neighboring towns yesterday were R. E. Andrews, of Maroa, Supervisor Montgomery, of Macon, D. S. Wallace, of Long Creek, William Woodburn, of Milan, W. H. Carman and J. B. Casner, of Casner, I. Blaine of Sangamon, A. F. Hopkins, of Elwin, W. A. Hinkle, of Forsythe, D. A. Farrum, of Niantic, Dr. W. E. Gays, of Dalton City.

Printers vs. Cigar Makers
These old time rivals met upon the diamond for the first time this season at the ball park yesterday. Heretofore the printers have invariably been the victors, but this time the cigar makers were ready for them and proceeded to do up the typists in short order. Seven innings only were played, but that was more than the printers wanted for the score was 21 to 10. The first three innings were very closely contested, but then Hendricks, the printers' pitcher, gave out and the cigar makers sneaked in a baker's dozen of tallies in a single inning.

The opposing nines were Amusements.

To-morrow evening the Indian actress, Ogarta will commence a week's engagement at the Grand. She opens with the new comedy drama "Lizzie Leigh" cast with the full strength of her supporting company. Concerning star and supporting company the (Glasen City) Enterprise has the following to say:
The Indian actress, Ogarta, opened a week's engagement at the opera house last night in the strong drama, "Lizzie Leigh." Those who went to see a border fancy with wild stunts, woe, cowboys and fancy rifle shooting were sadly disappointed. For instead they witnessed one of the best productions of a society play ever put on the stage in this city. Ogarta is an actress of more than ordinary merit. Her emotional scenes being exceptionally fine. Her characterization of the dramatic mother, came as near being a perfect piece of acting as could be imagined. The leading support, Mr. Karl S. Bayard, an actor with sufficient ability to support any American star and he is particularly suited to the clever star whom he is now supporting. The balance of the cast was first class and taken altogether the Princess Theater company is one, if not the best, organization of the kind that has been in the city.

Birthday Party.
The 17th birthday of Wilbur Davis was celebrated in royal style at the residence of his parents on Packard street yesterday. Lawn tennis and other amusements were the order of the day. A number of his young friends were present to participate in the fun and entertainment.

THE NEW PARK.
Fifty More Names Added to the List of Suggestions.
THE REVIEW had intended to close the pleasing contest of suggesting names for the new park, and of putting the matter to a vote of the people of the county. Partly on account of the lively manner in which new and appropriate names are still coming in and partly from the fact that the races will engross public interest for this week, it has been decided to wait until next Sunday before calling for a vote and the announcement of the methods in which ballots must be cast in order to be properly counted. In the next SUNDAY REVIEW therefore, will be printed all the suggestions that are sent in during the coming week and also the announcement of the methods which have been decided upon for arrival at the comparative popularity of the names that have been suggested.
The past week has been a very fruitful one as the following letters will show.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.
EDITOR REVIEW—I send you quite a list of names and I hope that among the number I have been fortunate enough to have suggested the name which shall be finally chosen for our beautiful new park. Here is my list of suggestions:

Washington Park	Eagle Park
Silver Park	Diamond Park
Cleveland Park	Woodland Park
Windsor Park	Mountain Park
Hendrick Park	National Park
Citizens Park	Ocean Park
Virginia Park	Vermont Park
Walnut Park	St. John's Park
La Fayette Park	Cedar Park
Galeen Park	Adams Park
Vernation Park	Atlantic Park
Jefferson Park	College Park
Richland Park	Sangamon Park
Orange Park	Sugar Park
Green Park	Columbia Park
Oregon Park	Union Park
Nelson Park

Decatur, Ill., July 7, 1890.
COLUMBIA PARK.

EDITOR REVIEW—Let us christen our new park "Columbia Park," in honor of our four hundredth anniversary, and in remembrance of him who "discovered" our noble land, America. The park will hardly be ready to receive her baptism before 1892. I had the pleasure of naming "Oakland Park," and would be highly honored to act as sponsor for the new one.

Decatur, Ill., July 8, 1890.
ATMA M. KINNEY.

SEVERAL SUGGESTIONS.
EDITOR REVIEW—In regard to naming the new park, I would suggest Glenn Dale Park, Glenn View Park, or Glenn Wood, etc. I think Hannan would be quite an appropriate name, but spell it Hannan.

Decatur, Ill., July 11, 1890. L. E. A.

LIBERTY PARK.
EDITORIAL VIEW—Public resorts or parks are usually intended to be places where the people can, for the time being, liberate themselves from the restraints of domestic and business cares, where recreation and innocent enjoyment are equally afforded to all; where the dark lines of social distinction and class bias fade away where the people meet upon the level in Nature's bowery of liberty, where all may cultivate a common interest and sympathy for the public good where the life-giving principles of our republic may be refreshed in name and in practice. Therefore I suggest that the fan ground be christened "Liberty Park."

GILMORE SCHONKOWITZ.
Decatur, Ill., July 10, 1890.

"WEST SIDE"—"LA SORRE"—"RESERVOIR."
EDITORIAL VIEW—In regard to naming the park I feel I have as much interest as anyone, as the grounds were and will be a long-remembered pleasure resort of my husband's childhood, where himself, with his long gone parents, went to the fair for me. Call it West Side Park, or Resort Park, or Reservoir Park. Any of those three would be appropriate names, for it is on the west side of the city, and plenty of living water and a place of resort. As I am a constant reader of the grand old REVIEW, you will not send this to the waste basket.

Mrs. C. L. HANKS.
Forsyth, Ill., July 10, 1890.

EDITORIAL VIEW—I have a name for the park, call it Cleveland Park in honor of our president. From a democratic subscriber to THE REVIEW. JOHN HENRY.

Forsythe, Ill., July 10.

"PEOPLE'S PARK."
EDITORIAL REVIEW—I would suggest the name of "The People's Park" as most befitting for the new park, as had it not been for Mr. Martin we should doubtless still be hauled about by moles and brouchos, and no prospect for the park. And as Mr. Martin was of the people and for the people, let it be the above name.

ONE OF THE PEOPLE
Decatur, Ill., July 11.

RATHBONE PARK.
EDITORIAL REVIEW—Feeling at liberty to do so I would like to suggest as names for the park the following. We now have an "East End Driving Park" and why not have a "West End Park" or "West Side Park." It would give infinite pleasure to the members of the order of K. of P. to have such a beautiful place called "Rathbone Park" in honor of the founder of the order.

Decatur, Ill., July 12 1890.
R members to take are invited to send in your suggestions and they will be printed in the next SUNDAY REVIEW.

Stapp's Chapel
Rev. George B. Stapp, pastor of Stapp's Chapel, will leave Monday night for Denver, to enjoy a well earned vacation of four weeks. During his absence the pulpit will be filled as follows:
July 20—Rev. M. G. Coleman, Atwood July 27—Rev. W. B. Atkinson, Maroa
Aug. 3—John A. Dawson, Decatur August 10—Rev. C. Galemer, Springfield.

The Teachers' Institute
On Monday the ladies and gentlemen who have charge of the educational affairs of the county will gather in this city about 80 in number, to hold the summer Teachers' Institute. Prof. Conrad, of this city, Prof. G. E. and J. J. Wilkinson will be the instructors. The meetings will be held at the high school and continue four weeks.

An exciting Demorest silver medal elocutionary contest took place in Bement Friday night. Miss F. A. Reinhardt was the successful contestant and will probably represent Bement in the gold medal contest during the National Prohibition campmeeting which begins July 31.

OLD SETTLERS' MEETING.
The Annual Reunion is Fixed for August 26th.
A meeting of the old settlers' officers and executive committee was held at the bank of Gorm, Dawson & Co., yesterday. There was present Dr. E. W. Moore, president, J. I. Braden, treasurer; J. R. Gorin, secretary, of the committee, Noah Jacobs, Hon. R. H. Hill, Jerry Turpin and Jerome Edwards. It was decided to hold the annual reunion Aug. 26, either at Oakland Park or King's orchard. The following committees were appointed:
Arrangements—John F. Kizer, A. T. Davis, and R. H. Hill.
Music—J. Y. Braden, Dr. E. W. Moore, Noah Jacobs.
Speakers—J. R. Miller, Silas Packard, H. Ward, and J. R. Gorin.
On Rides—V. Barber, Hickory Point, F. and Creek, J. W. Brown, Whitmore, James Lisenberger, Maroa, Mitt Funk, Austin, Lemuel Montgomery, Illinois, E. J. Roberts, Harrodsburg, William Gouge, Niantic, James Dinkman, Blue Mound, Hon. W. T. Moffett, Pleasant View, Daniel Patterson Macon, Hon. D. P. Keller, Milan, E. B. Wise, Mt. Zion, Jerry Turpin, Wheatland, Noah Jacobs, Long Creek, Rev. A. V. Baker, Oakley, S. P. Nickey, Decatur, John Ricketts, H. C. Johns, Thomas Lord and D. Martin. It is expected that all will gather every thing interesting of "Ye Olden Time," and have it on hand. Home made tubs, cradles, wooden plows, log cabins and old-fashioned skillets will all count, but if anybody can find a guileless maiden of the innocent, unsophisticated and useful sort that were extant in the halcyon days when the old settler was a boy, she will be an interesting reproduction of a relic. The committee will meet again next Saturday.

STRAY SCRAPS.
Lucky was a good rain at Arthur yesterday afternoon.
George P. Blume has established a branch agency in Maroa.
The race track will be connected with the city by telephone.
Billy Barks, of Latham, has just purchased a fine new bicycle.
Silas Long presented his wife with a lambley wheel yesterday.
The farmers in the neighborhood of Elwin enjoyed a refreshing rain yesterday morning.
A H. Cox took a large Haines piano in a wagon yesterday to a purchaser 35 miles in the country.
Guy Parke has sold his handsome black riding and driving horse to Rev. Dinkman, of Bloomington, for $2.00.
R. L. Hockaday has sold his hotel at Mt. Zion and will come to Decatur to reside. The purchaser was Patrick Sullivan.
The T. H. & P. will run a special excursion train from Peoria this morning to the union campmeeting, leaving there at 7:30 a. m.
Some of the clothing men who are next door to a restaurant complain that the flies go into the lunch counter to eat and then rush back in a body to sleep.
The men "fermest" whom Mr. Lindsay sends have met and devised ways and means. The result of their deliberations is "Let Mr. Lindsay prove his case."
The campers came to town last evening. They enjoyed their week's outing hugely, and so did their numerous guests who were so handsomely entertained by them.
The census enumerator for the Second ward is still in a state of innocuous desuetude and hasn't sent in his returns yet. So that the official figures cannot be given.
The 6 months old child of Russell Gunard was taken sick with cholera infantum yesterday morning. Dr. L. N. Moore is attending on the little one and soon made it rest easy.
Some people said that the thermometer showed yesterday to be the hottest day of the season. Perhaps we are getting so used to the warm weather that we don't notice it any more.
There was a hotly contested civil suit yesterday before Justice Curtis between William Hayes and George Warren over a claim of $4.50 for work. Hayes finally got judgment for $2.50.
C. P. Kennedy has been enraged as instructor for the summer and fall by the Kenney band and will assist them in giving their Saturday evening concerts and furnishing music at Pastime Park.
Mr. Turner a mechanical expert from Detroit, is overhauling the engines at the Short Line power house, and will probably remain here and relieve Mr. McTiggan, who will go in a few days to Fort Worth, Tex. to superintend the machinery at that place.
The C. Morris 40 acres near the St. Louis bridge, southwest of the city, have been purchased by B. B. Tuttle for $2,300. The gentleman has also purchased 40 acres of timber land of Mrs. Caroline Powers, and will move his saw mill to that section.
A special meeting of the Industrial and Charitable Union will be held at the Woman's Exchange Tuesday evening, July 15, at 7:30. All the members of the Union and especially the members and depositors of the Exchange, are especially requested to be present.
The Salvation Army will hold services at 3 o'clock this afternoon and at 8 o'clock this evening out at King's orchard. They are trying to make arrangements for a devotional campmeeting to be held out at Oakland Park, after the National Prohibition campmeeting is over.
Mr. Grant from Springfield who is employed in the dry goods establishment of J. & Walker & Co. had a severe bilious attack yesterday and was taken to Dr. Spaulding's office where that gentleman worked with him for two hours, after which he was taken to the home of Mr. Walker, on West Main street.
Col. Matinas and a young "boss" man by the name of Baker, held an animated discussion over business matters on Water street yesterday. The colonel shed his linen in wild and woolly west style, and threatened to mop the pavement with Baker, who was bigger but better natured. They finally agreed to a temporary cessation of hostilities and returned to find a referee.
C. M. Caldwell has been confined two weeks to the house by sore eyes. Yesterday they felt a little better and Charley took a drive out to the race track. When he got out there he at once grew enthusiastic; so much so that he actually forgot all about his tender eyes until, some friend from town, three hours after, asked him how they were getting along.

SPLIT A SECOND.

Decatur is thinking a great deal these days about the first meeting of the Trotting Association and the fine Exhibition of racing we will have.

THE DOG DAYS.

A perusal of Friday evening's Rep will inform you that the mad time of the year, the dog days are upon us. They are coming a little early, but that they are headed this way there can be no doubt in the minds of those who have read that paper. The editorial column thereof, on the date mentioned, informs the people that they should beat any man for Congress who thinks the tariff is a tax. The South V. editor is again prepared to say that it is not. We admire the man's bravery, for he makes this statement well knowing that Unlabeled inquiries cases in Decatur come up before the Democratic county judge for trial.

But Rep has some figures to show that the tariff is not a tax. Prefacing these figures is a statement to the effect that manufactured articles are cheaper now than they were during the days of reduced tariffs before the war. Democrats are asked to explain this; the inference is that protection has made them cheaper, and therefore the democrat will explain. Well, we insist that improvement in machinery has made them cheaper in many places; one man can now do the work that a dozen did 40 years ago. We have captured and tamed new forces in the last 40 years. Manufactured articles have grown still cheaper in free-trade England than in the protected United States. Those people across the water now sell some goods so cheap that our manufacturers are compelled to beg for 87 per cent. of protection against them.
It all shows that outside of free trade, and in spite of protection, there has been some independent force at work to cheapen the articles of manufacture the world over.

And then there is the statement that farmer's products bring more now than they formerly did. This is attributed to protection. How does it come that the price of farm products has been almost steadily declining for more than a dozen years? If that economical heresy is one that has a beneficial effect upon the price of farm products, why does it not maintain its increase?
Farmers who are how working all the day and half the night to meet the interest on the debts that have accumulated in the last 15 years, can remember when their produce sold for at least three times the price it will to-day. When you talk to these men about protection being a force that will increase the price of farm products, they will point you to the fact that it is a decrease that is now upon us. If it is the province of our policy to increase the farmer's profit, then what is the matter with such protection as we have? Has the thing gone on a drunk?
During the reign of protection we have had an increase in prices, and we have also had a grinding decrease. This bastard child of class legislation must be troubled with spasms. Some how or other it allowed the farmer to do well for awhile, and then it turned in and took all his gains away from him. His fate for the last 30 years is similar to that of the hog that is first fattened and then driven to market.

These experts in protection are cultivating farmers; they are in that business. If they let the farmer do well for a while, it is only that he may be a juicier piece by the time he is served up at their feast. Just now it seems to be more profitable to the favorite of protection to let the farmer weather through the season on scant feed. They think they are wise; but they had better be careful. The farmer may be forced to think in his own behalf.

There is much more to be said about the price of farm products, but there is no space this morning. However, here is a question for South Water: If it is the effect of protection to cheapen the cost of all manufactured articles, how do you manage out of those decreased receipts to pay the higher wages you prate so glibly of in election times?

VIVE LE COMMITTEE.

Chairman Belden's recent address to republican editors did not in all cases receive the hasty and hearty response it got from The Rep. There is a republican paper at Syracuse, N. Y., the home of Senator Hiscock, that answered Belden in a fashion quite in contrast to the effort of The Rep.
The Syracuse Journal has this to say about the address:

It is an unusual kind of a pronouncement and although coming from the chairman of the republican congressional committee, it is likely to be laughed at by the gentlemen to whom it is sent. It is no part of the functions of the newspaper press to drag the houses of Congress into the enactment of any particular legislation. Such an attempt would be arrant partisanship and unwarranted presumption, and in this instance would give the opposition party some grounds beyond what they already have for raising an issue for the elections. The Senators in Congress are presumed to be able to deal with public questions without direction of the newspapers. While criticism and comment are always in order, and doubtless are of much value at times, an organized movement of the party press under direction of a congressional campaign committee's chairman to secure legislation on which doubts may exist in the minds of legislators would be a proceeding quite novel and justly subject to condemnation.
In this instance it is uncalled for and the address has little, if anything, to justify its issue. The republican newspaper editors are quite likely to tell Congressman Belden that he better attend to his own duties and that they will go on in their own way of treating public questions, including the Federal election bills, without instructions.

We warrant you that what The Journal has to say in the above will be read by more Senators than ever heard, or will hear, of The Rep. But the editor of The Journal is mistaken in his estimate of the amount of independence there is in republican papers when he says they will go on in their own way of treating public questions "without instructions." Those we have in this part of the country are always waiting for instructions. To them the edict of the caucus is the supreme law of the Universe. If the Congressional committee had determined that it was safest to beat the Force bill and had sent out a request to the republican papers to ask the Senators to vote against it, 99 out of every 100 of them would have reported with the same alacrity and with the same humble and disgraceful obedience.

It would seem that journalism has got in a bad way when nearly one-half the press of a great country waits upon the call of a not very important political committee for permission to say something. Here is a question in which every man in the United States is interested; one that may go so far as to mean political slavery to him; one of such import that it makes three republican Congressmen break through the bonds which Czar Reed has thrown about a large party; a question that has to do with the continuance of representative government; and in spite of all this a press that boasts itself valuable to the Nation as a moral and intellectual force takes its cue from an unknown and irresponsible campaign committee and impudently rushes in to ask Senators to vote its second-hand ideas.

At this rate, who will be ruling the country in a short time? Suppose the Senators conclude to take the advice of their party press. That press got its notion from the committee, and so the committee will rule.
Has the day come when the people of this country are willing to turn the naming of their laws and the making of their thought over to campaign committees? If such is the case, let the constitution of the land be changed so the people may secure representation on those committees. Since the committees have got to dictating laws, and have only to drop a hint to send the press flying on their errands, it would be well for the people who must stand the effect to cease their strife and worry about such figureheads as Representatives and Senators and go in entirely for representation in these new back-room legislatures.

According to the present republican notion about good government, the campaign committee stands as the embodiment of all might and right. The House and Senate are on earth only as places to shelter the servants who record the will of the committee; the great moral and intellectual press acts only as a liveried messenger boy to carry notes telling what is wanted. Oh yes; let us have some laws giving us the right to choose committeemen by popular vote; and since the Representatives and Senators have become such insignificant affairs, there is nothing to be lost by turning their appointment over to the campaign committees, allowing them to hold their snakey positions during good behavior, or at the will of the committee. And the republican paper may be dispensed with altogether; it is possible to employ younger and swifter messenger boys than the men who now act as editors on those papers.
And it is a great waste of time and force for a hard-worked committee in Washington to send its demands to the national capitol building via Decatur. Hire a 14-year old boy and give him a bicycle and he can do all the entire republican press is now doing. The editor of The Syracuse Journal might be hung for treason. The republican notion of popular government is to let the people vote for those who have nothing to do with the case. And when the supreme power of the committee becomes established perhaps there will be no further patriotic objection to the people noting for powerless Senators. We have a weather bureau at Washington; let us have one on committees. It would be interesting to have the thought of republican editors predicted 24 hours in advance of its birth.

THE REP says that if Mr. Scott believes that a tariff is a tax, he ought to go to some insane asylum as soon as room can be made for him. It may be necessary to send this style of man to the insane asylum some day, but it will be in the capacity of attendant to those incurables who take up with the weak nomenclature that a tariff is not a tax.

WHAT is a tariff? It is a tax. It is nothing but a tax. It is a tax which we do not pay to the government, but to the manufacturer for his private enrichment; for where protection begins, revenue ceases.
The consumer is impoverished, the government is not aided.—Emory Storrs, a republican statesman.

Our friend, Capt. DeWitt Columbus Shockey, will please remember his patriotic running mate in his prayers to-day.

It wasn't Ed Lynch who said the tariff should be revised by its friends. That was a famous republican fake of the last campaign; and we are glad to see that the F. M.
B. A. has sized it up very correctly.

Cancer of the Nose.

In 1876 a sore appeared on my nose, and grew rapidly. As my father had cancer, and my husband died of it, I became alarmed, and consulted my physician. His treatment did no good, and the sore grew larger and worse in every way, until I had concluded that I was to die from its effects. I was persuaded to take S. S. and a few bottles cured me. This was after all the doctors and other medicines had failed. I have had no return of the cancer.

The Old Way.

Sairey Gamp, whom Dickens immortalized, used to administer medicine by clutching the patient by the throat and when he opened his mouth to grasp for breath she chucked the medicine down his throat and left him to swallow it or struggle as it suited him. This is too much the way most people administer medicine to children;
nothing is more pitiable than to see a little child in the agonies of croup, fighting with both its little hands to keep away the ill-tasting draughts that the nurse is trying to pour down its throat. Nothing of this sort is needed with Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure.
The children like to take it,
and as it contains no opium or anything deleterious there-is no harm to be found even from an over-dose. Children can take it freely. When the little ones come home from school with wet feet and at night comes on they begin to grow hoarse and their cheeks flush, and they show signs of approaching fever, lose no time but give them a dose of Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure before supper; repeat the dose before going to bed and you will be spared of pain of seeing them in the throes of this most dreaded disease of childhood, besides passing wakeful night at their bedside. It is one of the virtues of the most excellent remedy that it not only cures every individual case of croup but it prevents a recurrence of the malady. Reid's German cough and kidney cure should therefore be kept on hand in every household, for it is an absolute specific for croup and all disease that come from colds.

Heart Disease.
Read the hospital reports, read the mortuary reports, read the medical publications, read the daily newspaper, and learn how wide-spread is heart disease, how difficult of detection it is to most people, how many how sudden are the deaths it causes. Then read Dr. Flint's treatise on heart disease, and learn what it is, what causes it, what disease it gives rise to, what its symptoms are, and how it may be attacked. If you find that you have heart disease, ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Flint's Remedy. The treatise may be had on application to Mack Drug Co., N. Y.
Burlington Route.
But one night from Burlington to Denver "The Burlington's Number One" daily vestibule express leaves Chicago at 1 p. m. and arrives at Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the next day. Additional express trains, making as quick time as those of any other road from Chicago, St. Louis and Peoria to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Council Bluffs, Omaha, Cheyenne, Denver, Atchison, Kansas City, Houston, and all points West, Northwest and Southwest.
Garver's Garment.
A committee representing the numerous branches of the Garver family, early pioneers of this section, met at the St. Nicholas hotel yesterday to arrange for their annual reunion. Among those present were: Abram Garver, of Argenta; Felix Garver, of Decatur; Samuel Garver, of Farmer City; J. J. Garver, of Cerro Gordo, and E. M. Garver. Arrangements were not all completed, consequently there will be another meeting of the committee at the St. Nick next Thursday at 10:30.
Progress.
It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.
A Difficulty Surmounted.
It is often very difficult to tell what kind of a laxative to give to a very young child who is suffering from constipation. The only medicine which is at the same time perfectly safe, effective, safe, and pleasant to take, is Hamburg Figs. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Springfield Exposition and Sangamon Fair
The annual exposition and fair held at Springfield, Ill., is second to none in the state in point of number and high character of the attractions provided for the entertainment and instructions of the general public.
The exhibits at Springfield last season crowded to the utmost all the available space in the several departments, and the number of applications for the coming fair leave no room for doubting that the 1890 exhibition will be larger than last season, and it possible, better in quality.
The association has increased the premiums in each department of the fair of 1890, and in the classes for horses, cattle and sheep the premiums are 100 per cent. larger than last season.
The horse and cattle premiums in the breeding rings for the fair of 1890, have been increased to $20 for the first premium, and $10 for the second premium, which amounts are not exceeded for the corresponding ages and classes by any fair management in Illinois or many of the state fairs. The grounds, new buildings, etc., of the Springfield exposition, are complete, and in convenience and architectural beauty, the improvements surpass those of any similar organization in the United States.
The complete preparations made for the Springfield Exposition of 1890, by the merchants, manufacturers, artisans, artists, farmers, stockmen, etc., insure an attraction well worthy of the attention of all who desire to keep pace with the progressive periods. All should send to the Secretary, Charles F. Mills, of Springfield, Ill., for a copy of the very complete classification of prizes and the liberal premiums provided for the most useful breeds of domestic animals, as well as for such articles, specimens and attractions as are usually displayed at the leading agricultural and industrial exhibition of the country. One hundred speed horses entered.

THE DAY'S DOINGS IN CONGRESS.

The Silver Conference Bill Passed by the House by a Strict Party Vote.—Remarks of Cramer, Bland, Catech and Hermann on the Report.—The President Pro-nounces a Published Letter a Forgery.—The Senate Rules.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—In the house Saturday morning the silver bill was taken up for consideration. The bill was passed by a vote of 157 to 100. The bill provides for the redemption of silver certificates at the rate of 100 cents for 100 cents. It also provides for the redemption of silver certificates at the rate of 100 cents for 100 cents. It also provides for the redemption of silver certificates at the rate of 100 cents for 100 cents.

A Truly Republican Measure.—He wanted the Democratic party to tell the country whether it was unwilling to refuse to support a bill that would give the people this large measure of relief. This was a Republican measure, and every financial measure of importance that had been successful in this country (with one solitary exception) had been a Republican measure. The pending measure had been agreed upon by Republicans only. It might pass here by Republican votes only. It would then go to where it would be signed by a Republican president and thence it would go to a country which would give such a Republican endorsement that many gentlemen on the other side would not be able to vote in the next congress. The work of the House has been moving the country rapidly towards the establishment of a parity between silver and gold. When congress met, silver was 93 cents an ounce. Friday it sold for 104 cents. Since it had been announced that the conference had agreed upon a bill, silver had gone up more than 3 cents an ounce.

A Dumping Ground for Silver.—Catech of Michigan regarded the conference bill as a vast improvement over the monstrosity sent here by the senate, which proposed to make the United States mints the dumping ground for all the silver of the world for the benefit of speculators. It would give the country an additional currency of metal and paper for the uses of business.

Hermann of Oregon said that he favored the bill, although it did not contain the fullest recognition of the equality of gold and silver as money metals, was a concession on both sides of the question. It was a victory for the popular demand. It was a long step towards free coinage. He had no doubt that after the fall elections there would be a stronger representation here on the line of free coinage of silver.

A Result of Secret Meetings.—Bland of Missouri, concerned with the gentleman in hoping that the next house would be a free coinage house. But that house would be composed of those who advocated free coinage and who stood by their color. It would not be composed of the Republican party, which by gag rule had voted down and stifled free coinage. If free coinage came at all it would come from that party which had stood firm to the flag of free coinage, and which had not surrendered its principles at the back of Wall street. He denied that the bill was the result of a free and fair conference. It was the result of secret meetings of the Republican conference. He, as a conferee, had known nothing of the measure until it had been framed and the report was ready to be signed. The Democratic members had been ignored in the preparation of the bill. The bill was one which practically demonetized silver. It was a sugar-coated quinine pill. On the first reading it seemed that the secretary was to purchase 4,500,000 ounces every month, but when a man rolled the pill around in his mouth he began to taste the bitterness of free coinage.

The silver conference bill was finally passed by the house—yeas 157, nays 100. A strict party vote.

It Is a Forgery.—Washington City, July 12.—President Harrison says the published letter purporting to be a copy of a letter written by him in response to an invitation to attend the national conference at Carlisle, Pa., is a forgery. He has written a letter to the effect that he is unable to attend the conference.

To Change the Senate Rules.—WASHINGTON, July 12.—Acting under instructions from the senate Republican caucus, the caucus committee of seven met Saturday morning in the room of the committee on rules and discussed the proposition to change the rules of the senate so as to make it possible to limit debate on pending measures. The form of the proposed change was discussed for about two hours, without final result.

Roundtable Adopted the Gold Standard.—WASHINGTON, July 12.—The director of the mint has received from the minister of the United States at Buenos Aires an account of the recent demonetization of full legal tender silver coins by the Argentine government in pursuance of a law passed by the chamber of deputies in March last, substituting the single gold standard for the double standard in that country.

Approved by the President.—WASHINGTON, July 12.—The president has approved the act to incorporate the North River bridge company, authorizing the construction of a bridge and approaches at New York city, across the Hudson river.

A Failure in Hosiery.—PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—William Wrighton, manufacturer of hosiery, has assigned. Liabilities estimated at $40,000.

POWDERLY'S POLITICAL PLAN.

He Wants to Knock Out State's Rights in Presidential Elections.—SCRANTON, Pa., July 12.—General Master Workman Powderly said Friday: "The Knights of Labor will have ballot reform bills before nearly every state legislature next winter. I am in favor of having the presidential electors chosen by districts, with two at large, instead of by states, as they are now elected. That would not shut out the Republicans or the Democrats of a certain state entirely. Going to Agitate the Matter. "For instance, Pennsylvania is bound to elect all Republican electors, and Mississippi all Democratic ones. The Democrats of Pennsylvania and the Republicans of Mississippi have no voice in the selection of a president at all. And election by districts would avoid all this, and would, I firmly believe, be for the best interests of the people. As soon as other matters warrant, I am going to agitate this matter."

WORLD'S FAIR SECRETARY.

The Hon. Benjamin Butterworth Selected for the Position.—CHICAGO, July 11.—It took three ballots to elect the Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, the noted Ohio congressman, secretary of the exposition company. Twice it was a vote of 21 to 7, but when some of the directors who had been to Washington in the preliminary stages of world's fair business told their fellow-members how gallantly Ben Butterworth of Ohio had fought in congressional committees for the location of the fair in Chicago, his election as secretary of the local board was made unanimous. During the talk about electing him a very flattering telegram from Chauncey M. Depew in reference to Mr. Butterworth's qualifications for the place was read by one of the directors.

Mr. Butterworth Saturday telegraphed his acceptance of the position.

CHIVALROUS WISCONSIN MEN.

They Felt a Citizen with Eggs Because He Got Out the Female Vote.—BUTTERWORTH, Wis., July 12.—County Superintendent Broer was pelted with rotten eggs at the polls Friday. He was active in getting the women of the school district out to vote for a new building and longer terms. The men didn't object to the school building or longer terms, but they were paralyzed with astonishment at the sight of women actually voting, and their anger knew no bounds when it was found that the women had won the point at issue. They were only prevented from demolishing the ballot boxes and destroying the record of the election by the prompt action of a few cool-headed men. When the supply of eggs ran out affairs became somewhat quieter.

Frightful Death of a Conductor.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday morning while running through the tunnel from the north approach a Lincoln avenue train jumped the track just before it reached the center arches. As it did so Conductor E. W. Wygrant, who was standing on the rear of a trailing car, lost his balance and was thrown against the west wall. His head first struck the wall while a portion of his body remained on the car. Before he could be caught he was drawn into the narrow space between the car and the wall and crushed and mangled into a almost unrecognizable mass of quivering, bleeding flesh.

The Clock-Makers' Strike.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The striking clock-makers and the employers held a conference Friday. Of the six demands made by the strikers, four were conceded. The fifth—pay for time lost during the strike—was temporarily withdrawn. The sixth—discharge of the men who have taken strikers' places—was the bone of contention. No agreement was reached, but another meeting will be held. It is believed that the strike is practically over.

He Probably Feels Better Now.

HOLLAND, Mich., July 12.—The citizens of Holland were considerably surprised by seeing a black flag floating from the top of the high school. The reason ascribed for this remarkable proceeding is that the school board appointed a new janitor, and the present incumbent to relieve his feelings raised the black flag on the building, locked up the building and hid the key.

Will Have to Re-Marry.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., July 12.—The New Era newspaper prints two columns of names of people who have been married since 1887, of which there is no legal evidence. The list includes many prominent people of the county, and scores have decided to re-marry. Some attorneys claim that hundreds of business transactions are void if any one chooses to dispute them.

Fire at Muskegon, Mich.

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 12.—Fire was discovered at about 1 o'clock Friday afternoon in the lumber yard of the Ducey Lumber company at their mill No. 2 at North Muskegon. A high wind was prevailing at the time and all the lumber north of the mill, about 2,500,000 feet of dry yard stock was burned. The total loss is about $25,000; insurance, $24,000.

Funeral of Gen. Plisk.

GOLDEN, Colo., July 12.—The remains of the late Clinton B. Plisk, the Prohibition candidate for president of the United States in the last campaign, arrived at his old home from New York Saturday afternoon and were interred in the family lot of the old village cemetery. The town was in mourning, and business was generally suspended.

Suit Against a Doctor.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 12.—William Crumpton, of Collins, has brought suit for $5,000 damages against Dr. D. T. Douglas, of that place, alleging that he is the victim of the doctor's malpractice. He claims that he has been permanently injured by Dr. Douglas' failure to properly set a fractured bone.

Mrs. Logan Will Be There.

BURLINGTON, Ia., July 12.—It is given out authoritatively that Mrs. John A. Logan, accompanied by Gen. Distin and his staff, will accompany the Iowa delegation to the national encampment of the G. A. R. at Boston in August.

Stolen Plunder Recovered.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 12.—Inspector Watkins has found several thousand dollars in currency near Jamestown, N. D., which had been concealed by the men who robbed the Northern Pacific train June 7.

Sentenced to Death.

OSAKA, Neb., July 12.—Ed Neil, convicted of the murder of Allen Jones, has been sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 25.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Philip Packin, a well known citizen of Jo Daviess county, Ill., was killed on his farm in Thompson township Friday forenoon. He had held the office of police magistrate for thirty consecutive years. It is reported that Grover Cleveland had been offered a retainer to plead the cause of the Louisiana lottery in the courts. A Boston woman, who invented a shoe sewing machine, sold the patent for $150,000. The Observer, published at Niantic, Ill., has suspended and the material has been moved to Pawnee, Ill. Fizzer is the name of a candidate for governor in Arkansas. The London News states that Mrs. Frank Leslie will marry the Marquis de Neuville. Hortense Mages, a beautiful young stenographer in a Cleveland railroad office, has sued John F. Harper, a wealthy banker of Chagrin Falls, for breach of contract. She says she let him off from a matrimonial engagement on his promise to pay her $2,000 in $500 installments. She says he hasn't paid the fourth installment. The Democratic congressional convention at Orville, Ohio (McKinley's district), nominated John G. Warwick for congress, on the seventy-fourth ballot, Friday evening. John Lafargue, for years paymaster at the Deere & Co. works in Moline, Ill., was imprisoned Friday on his confession of sundry defalcations amounting to $1,000. A director of the Maryland penitentiary said Friday that ex-State Treasurer Archer is not only a very sick man but that his mind is becoming affected, and that he will be insane, or perhaps dead, inside of three months. James Zedoff, of Tecumseh, Mich., was killed Thursday night by a freight train. He was walking on the track and, being deaf, received no warning of the approaching locomotive. At Carthage, Ill., Edward Bond, a well-known farmer, was torn by a mad bull Friday.

Two little daughters of Zatlague Lapard at Montreal were amusing themselves by smoking cigarettes when the clothing of one of them, aged 7 years, the younger of the two, caught fire. She was so seriously burned that she died in an hour.

The furnaces of the Chestnut Iron Ore company at Pittsburgh have shut down owing to dullness of the market and a large stock on hand.

Sylvanus Palmerston, a prosperous farmer near Barboursville, Pa., was beaten to death with a hoe by a hired man who had become insane.

At an unveiling of a statue to Jeanne d'Arc in France, thirty descendants of her brothers were present.

David Walton, an old Virginia slave, a resident of Peoria, Iowa, died Friday at the age of 112 years.

Chauncey M. Depew has arrived in London.

A young woman at Madison, Ind., being frightened, screamed loudly and dislocated her jaw.

A hungry horse tied in front of a dry goods store at Norristown, Pa., devoured part of a box of cheap straw hats.

Surprised by the Marriage.

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—A special from Fort Worth, Tex., to The Times-Democrat says: Much surprise has been caused by the marriage, on July 5, of Mayor W. S. Pennington and Addie Cutler, a telephone operator. It was supposed that the mayor was a man of family, but it transpires that last August he procured in Chicago a divorce from his first wife on the ground of incompatibility of temper. To all outward appearance, however, he had been living happily with his wife and children.

A Society Indo Goes Wrong.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—Hugh L. Harbison, a well known society dude and the owner of a large restaurant in the Union market in this city, has skipped town after borrowing and stealing all the cash on which he could lay his hands. The cash of his downfall is said by his friend to be a drunken wife.

THE HORSES ARE ALL HERE AND READY TO START.

A Great Crowd of Fine Horses—We Laid Freeport Out—Everybody Praises the Track—Program for the Week—Some Noted Stables That Are Represented.

The men who have had the race meeting in hand so far have reason this morning to be proud of their work. There are actually as many horses on the grounds as can be accommodated, and there will be calls for more stalls before this day is over. And the horses that are here are the best lot that ever went on an Illinois circuit. A man who is acquainted with race horses went out to the ground last afternoon and remarked after looking them over and reading their records: "If all Decatur does not turn out to see these races, then there is no use in trying to bring out our people."

About 160 horses came from Springfield yesterday and they made 135 on the grounds at 6 o'clock last night. More horses came in during the evening, so there must be about 150 out there this morning. It took some work to bring over the fine body of horses from Springfield. There is a postponed meeting at Freeport this week. It was to be held there some weeks ago but the river backed out the track and made it a duck pond. The Freeport men did all in their power to get the best of the Springfield horses. They even went so far as to say that our track is only half finished. B. Z. Taylor and Dr. Reid heard of the story that was going, and so they took a trip to Springfield and chinned for a while about the surpassing attractions of Decatur and the special glory of the race track. The result was we got the horses, and Freeport will have to go out and rustle among its country cousins for the plover whose mother was a great quarter horse in her day. When you run up against Decatur you meet John L. Sullivan, beasty sober and trained to fight for a kingdom.

Now that the race horse men are here to see and try for themselves you will hear no more in disparagement of the Decatur track. They all say that there is nothing like it in the country. The man who says that it is only half finished must be on to the fact that our people intend to put a polished brass railing around it and a golden stairway in the grand stand just as soon as they can catch a little time.

The street car line now runs to the track, and regular trips were made all day yesterday. The horses that go in the first races will be worked this morning. There are about 40 of them, and no doubt there will be a big crowd out to see the exercise. The gates are open and all can get in.

There are four race meetings in Illinois this week; at Elgin, Fairbury, Decatur and Freeport; that is, there are four advertised, but Freeport may fall down again.

The committee that was appointed to see the merchants about closing next Thursday afternoon continued its work yesterday. Everyone seen expressed a willing readiness to close; so that from 2 to 5 p. m. next Thursday the city will look like a deserted metropolis.

Admission to the grounds during the races will be 50 cents. An extra charge of 10 cents will be made for seats in the grand stand.

The pool privilege for the meeting was bought by A. A. Swearingen, of Mendota. There will be auction pools, mutuels and bookmaking. The pool boxes will open about a half-hour before the races each day. Following is the program of the races for the meeting:

Among the noted stables represented at the grounds is that of C. F. Emery, Cleveland, O., 14 horses; Pabst stock farm, Milwaukee, 6 horses; Miller & Stibley, Franklin, Pa., 13 horses; Hickory Grove farm (J. I. Case), Racine, Wis., 3 horses; Bruce Carr, Indianapolis, 5 horses. The Rensselaer stock farm, of Indiana, is also well represented.

W. C. T. U. Evangelistic Work.
During the warm term the meetings at the rooms in Library block will be suspended and the W. C. T. U. workers will hold a series of mission services.

To-day the meeting will be held at the Baptist mission in East Park Boulevard at 4 p. m. Mrs. M. Stafford will conduct the services. Scripture reading by Mrs. H. R. Wilson, prayers by Mrs. Gay and Mrs. Baker, music by Mrs. Crawford. The address will be given by Miss Jennie Gardner. There will be good singing. All are invited to come and bring "Gospel Hymns" and B. Fay Mill's hymn book.

TRACK AND TRAIN.

The number of railroads that have been sold under foreclosure or have passed into the hands of receivers during the first six months of 1890 is the subject of an article that appears in the Railway Age. The roads sold under foreclosure were 21 in number, with an aggregate mileage of 1,330, a total funded debt of $25,930,000, and capital amounting to $56,147,000. This is the worst showing that has been made in the corresponding period for several previous years. The number of roads for which receivers were appointed during the six months was nine, with a total mileage of 1,389, a total funded debt of $24,616,000, and aggregate capital stock of $32,576,000.

Ges Eriksen, a freight conductor on the Chicago division of the Wabash, got his hand between the drawbar and the dead-wood, while coupling cars at Benent Friday night, and had it badly mashed. He was brought to Decatur yesterday morning and Dr. Hostetter dressed the injured member. The hand will probably be saved, but Eriksen will be laid up for several weeks. Elmer Wellard, a Wabash brakeman, met with a somewhat similar accident while coupling cars at the same place—Benent—yesterday afternoon. His right hand was caught and badly crushed, though he will not lose any of his fingers. He was brought here for treatment by the company's surgeon, Dr. Hostetter.

A special train with D. J. Mackey, president of the P. D. & E. system, T. A. Allen, chief engineer, S. P. Munson, superintendent of bridges and buildings, C. E. Kees, roadmaster, and R. D. Starbuck, superintendent, on board, passed through the city yesterday morning en route for Evansville. They had been over the P. D. & E. route, including its branches, on a tour of inspection.

Baptist Pulpit Committee.

A REVIEWER saw a member of the Pulpit committee of the Baptist church yesterday and asked him what that committee has done. The member said that the committee has been hard at work all the time trying to get the proper man to take the place of Dr. Vosburgh. They have been to hear many preachers and have made inquiries about the qualifications of others who were recommended to their attention. Most of the committee have at last settled upon a man who they think will do. They have sent him an invitation to come to Decatur and spend a week at the church and with the members of the congregation. If everything proves mutually satisfactory an offer will be made him.

The committee would not state the name of the preacher invited, as he did not yet know the invitation would be accepted. But the committee has its eye on several other good men, and every day it hears indirectly of others. The committee thinks it is well to take plenty of time to make the choice of a new pastor; as the men who can fill the place of Dr. Vosburgh are not to be found in a day. As the salary that is paid here is about $2,000 a year, with the certainty of a raise for good work, it seems that, with time, there should be no trouble in securing an able man.

Police Pickings.

Blake, who was arrested on the complaint of the Sullivan, charged with perjury, was taken from the jail yesterday morning by Constable Midkiff and taken before Justice Hammer, who fixed the preliminary hearing for Thursday morning, and in default of a $200 bond he was turned over to the care of Sheriff Maury.

Pettigrew, arrested in Springfield by Constable Midkiff, on complaint of Frank Andrews for stealing a coat, was also arraigned before Justice Hammer. The hearing was set for Saturday morning and bail fixed at $50 and in default thereof Pettigrew was returned to jail. It is thought the matter will be adjusted by a return of the clothes and an appropriate apology, and paying cost of proceedings.

Samuel Woody was arrested yesterday on complaint of John Miller for non-payment of a board bill. He was taken before Justice Curtis and finally settled by giving an order for the amount on P. H. Hunt, the sewer contractor.

Death of Mrs. Nancy Barnett.

Mrs. Nancy Barnett, mother of John T. Barnett, engineer at the city waterworks, died at Greely, Col., on July 3rd, and was buried on July 7th. The deceased was in the 74th year of her age, and had made her home in Decatur with her son until she left for Greely four years ago, to await the final summons at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Col. Williams. Mrs. Barnett was born at Oxford, O., and came to Greene county, Ill. in 1830. Her husband was Rev. William Barnett, who died in 1853. He was a pioneer member of the Illinois Methodist conference and preached on the Greenfield circuit. Many Decatur people will remember Mrs. Barnett as a noble Christian woman. For 60 years she was a member of the Methodist church.

WILL AN EDITOR LIE.

The People of Illiopolis Say Their Editor Will.

EDITOR REVIEW:—We notice that in your paper of this morning you copy from the Illinois State Center, of Illiopolis, a mean and slanderous lie published by Spencer of the State Center, charging that Elder R. E. Howell was leaving here on account of dissatisfaction over his neglecting a Wednesday evening prayer meeting for a game of croquet. The whole article is a malicious falsehood and slander, manufactured out of whole cloth by this man Spencer, who at divers times previous to this instance, has prostituted his paper to base and unworthy purposes. Truth and justice and the respectable citizens of this community demand that this living editor and slander-monger be rebuked.

The time—the only time—Mr. Howell remained away from prayer meeting, he had labored hard all that day putting new chairs in the church and when he got his supper it was too late for him to go to his residence and exchange his clothing. He did not prefer croquet to prayer meeting. The statement of The State Center is a slanderous falsehood, intended by the perpetrator to injure the influence of Mr. Howell, simply because this insignificant country editor does not like Mr. Howell.

The Parks of London.

Here is something about London parks; Battersea park covers an area of 199 acres; Bushey park contains 94 acres, but from a large portion of this the public are excluded. Greenwich park contains 135 acres, almost all devoted to the public; Hampton Court park, with an area of 732 acres, is wholly unreserved, and the same may be said of Hampton Court green (47 acres) and Hampton Court enclosure gardens (42 acres); Hyde park, with 360 acres, is also practically unreserved, and the public have equal freedom in Kennington park (19 acres), Kensington gardens (274 acres), New gardens (248 acres), and Regent's park (472 acres), the largest reservation in Regent's park being 31 acres for the Zoological gardens; Richmond Old Deer park, containing 363 acres, is not open to the public; Richmond and Petersham parks cover 2,470 acres; St. James' park (63 acres) and Victoria park (212 acres) are unreserved; but from Windsor Green park, which covers 5,300 acres, 1,385 acres must be deducted from which the public are excluded; Windsor Home park consists of 73 acres, with no restrictions to the public.—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Nearest Man in Maine.

A man who owes us over two years' subscription put his paper back in the postoffice last week, marked "Refused." We have heard of many mean men. There is a man who used the wart on his neck for a collar button, the one who pastured a goat on his grandmother's grave, the one who stole coppers from a dead man's eyes, the one who got rich by giving his five children a nickel each to go to bed without supper and then stealing the nickel after the children were asleep; but for downright meanness the man who will take a paper for years, never pay anything for it, mark it "Refused," and then stick it back into the postoffice is entitled to the first premium. Now, if this man don't settle his account with this office inside of three weeks we shall tell who he is and where he lives, and invite him to go down the grand circuit of cattle fairs to be exhibited as the meanest man on earth.—Norway (Me.) Advertiser.

Roses in China.

In no other part of the world has the cultivation of roses been brought so nearly to perfection as in China. The rose gardens of the emperor of the Flowery Kingdom are gorgeous in the extreme. The revenue obtained yearly from the oil of roses and rose water is enormous and a great addition to the imperial coffers. Only the members of the royal family and the nobility, high military officials, mandarins, etc., are allowed to have any of the attar of roses in their dwellings. Very severe punishment is meted out to the ordinary citizen in whose possession even a drop of the precious essence is found.—Philadelphia Times.

A Murder at Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 7.—Harry Moyer, of Supt. Hughes's carpenter force, Tuesday night shot and instantly killed James McCormack. There had been a row between these men last Sunday, and McCormack came into Moyer's tent about 9 o'clock and began to abuse him and draw a revolver and shot McCormack through the heart. He was locked up. He says the shooting was done in self-defense. McCormack's body was taken to the morgue. Moyer is from Norristown and McCormack was a tramp from Philadelphia.

An Odious Smell.

The smell of burning paper inseparable from a cigarette is so odious to many people, that I have deemed it necessary to hang up signs in the cabin and the dining hall upstairs, requesting gentlemen not to smoke cigarettes. There is no objection to the fumes of a good cigar in any dining hall. Very few people would object to it, while very few can tolerate the odor of a cigarette. I have noticed in quite a number of offices and business houses about the city a printed prohibition of cigarette smoking hanging on the wall.—Restaurant Keeper in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE FEDERATION.

Lindsay's Attempt to Unite Farm and Labor Organizations.

The farmers of Macon county are strongly organized. So are the miners and several other trades unions, but they are all strictly non-political. John Lindsay has been trying to get them to unite on a common platform, so that he can use their combined political power in the coming campaign. These organizations are willing enough to come together for union and consultation, but they haven't enough confidence in Lindsay to enter the political field under his leadership.

It was for this reason we think that there was not a larger attendance at the union meeting at the court house yesterday. There were only about 30 present, and 20 of these were farmers, most of them members of the F. M. B. A., though that organization did not recognize the meeting by sending any regularly accredited delegates.

The meeting was called to order by John Lindsay, and Mr. Good, a farmer, was chosen chairman, while Michael Kelly, a coal miner, was elected to the secretary's chair. After stating the object of the meeting A. G. Webber, who was present by invitation, was asked to address the meeting. He spoke on the objects to be attained by such organizations, and made three points.

First—That bribery and corruption at elections should be carefully guarded against.

Second—That they should send their own members to the legislature to represent them, and not trust to others to protect their interests.

Third—That they should not ask for themselves any privilege they would not freely grant to others.

The resolutions adopted at the county assembly of the F. M. B. A., and, at the miner's meeting, which THE REVIEW has already printed in full, were then read by John Lindsay, and were adopted without debate. A resolution urging the county board to provide at once for a 25 per cent reduction of the salaries of all Macon county officials, provoked a spirited discussion in which the principal participants were J. W. Thornhill, of Haristown, and A. G. Webber. The latter urged that it came with poor grace from such an organization to talk of cutting down wages. The county officers should be well paid and then compelled to a strict performance of their duties. This measure is like straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel when there are so many greater evils uncorrected at our very doors. The resolution was finally laid over to the next meeting, and a committee of five was appointed to arrange for and call such meeting.

Farmer John A. Brown was an interested though silent observer of the proceedings.

at Bicycle headquarters in Library block, is a distinguished success. Paul Hickish, who is in charge, is a wonderfully skillful machinist, and is not only able to make any needed repairs to bicycles, but attends to difficult work on machinery of any description. He is certainly very expert and the high character of his work is the best testimonial. Mr. O. Ewing, the manager of the "Headquarters," has certainly been very fortunate in securing Mr. Hickish. This department adds completeness to the whole, and together with the sales department and the bicycle school makes an institution that will compare with any in the state.

The Venerable Greendale Oak at Welbeck Abbey, England, Through the Trunk of Which the Duke of Portland Drove a Coach and Four.

Every one who is interested in the remarkable trees of England will appreciate the portrait of the Greendale oak of Welbeck Abbey, England. It was a tree of such unusual size 170 years ago that the then Duke of Portland laid a wager that he had in his park at Welbeck a tree so large that he could drive a carriage and four through a hole cut in the trunk. He won his bet and ruined one of the most remarkable trees in Europe, which, in spite of this barbarous mutilation at the hands of the noble proprietor of Welbeck, has continued to exist almost in the same condition that it appears to have been in 1775, when the drawing of it was made that was published eleven years later in Hunter's edition of

THE GREENDALE OAK.

"Evelyn's Sylva." Another portrait of the tree appeared in Hayman Reek's "Sketches of Some Remarkable Oaks," published in London in 1790. Reek states that the Greendale oak was "thought to be above 700 years old; and that, from its appearance, there is every reason to suppose that it had attained to that age at least."

He gives the following statistics of its size: Circumference of the trunk above the arch, 35 feet 3 inches; height of the arch, 10 feet 3 inches; width above the middle, 6 feet 3 inches; height of the top branch, 54 feet. The tree has probably increased very little since these measurements were made just a century ago, although we have not, unfortunately, any recent authoritative measurements with which to compare them. The archway, however, has certainly been much narrowed by the extension of the back round the edges of the cut slice the duke drove his carriage and four through it. Another portrait, somewhat idealized, of the Greendale oak appears on the title page of Strutt's noble "Sylva Britannica," in which are gathered the portraits of the most venerable and most interesting trees of Great Britain. Thanks are due to Garden and Forest for the foregoing illustrated description of this noble oak.

PROTECT YOUR EYES.

Mr. H. HIRSCHBERG,

The well-known Optician of 629 Olive St., [N. E. Cor. 7th & Olive] St. Louis, has appointed Dr. A. J. Stoner, of Decatur, Ill., as agent for his celebrated Diamond Spectacles and Eyeglasses, and also for his Diamond Non-Changeable Spectacles and Eyeglasses. These Glasses are the greatest invention ever made in Spectacles. By a proper construction of the Lens a person purchasing a pair of these Non-Changeable Glasses never has to change these Glasses from the eyes, and every pair purchased are guaranteed, so that if they ever leave the eyes [no matter how rusted or scratched the lenses are] they will furnish the party with a new pair of Glasses free of charge. He has a full assortment and invites all who wish to satisfy themselves of the great superiority of these Glasses over any and all others now in use, to call and examine the same at his drug store, south side Park.

WHY THEY SMUGGLE

EXTENSIVE SMUGGLING UNEARTHED AT THE PORT OF NEW YORK.

Gothamites Get a Taste of Cheap Clothing—How the Smuggler Dodges the Tariff, and in That Way Sells Cheap London Clothing in America.

The eating is the proof of the pudding, and facts are the disproof of the pretenses and wild exaggerations of the pro-tectionists.

One of their exaggerations is the statement that clothing is as cheap in the United States as in Europe. The curious side of the matter is that if this statement were true there would be no need for protective duties on clothing. But instead of lowering duties on cloth and clothing we find McKinley actually putting on still higher duties and telling us in his tariff speech with coolest impudence, "We want no return to cheap times in our own country." McKinley evidently does not believe that clothing is as cheap here as in Europe; and, what is more, he boldly assures us that it shall not be so. He has the audacity to tell us, in defense of his outrageous bill, that "when merchandise is the cheapest men are the poorest."

But the foolish claim that clothing is as cheap here as in Europe has recently been refuted in a practical way that leaves absolutely no foundation for the false pretensions of the men who make such a claim.

The smuggler has been detected again for the thousandth time. This time it is clothing made in London that he has been secretly selling in New York.

The efforts of Special Agent Wilbur have recently brought to light an extensive and organized system of smuggling. The smuggling is carried on in clothing, cloaks, silks, plushes, laces and in nearly all other articles subject to high duties, thus offering large profits as compensation for the risk of detection.

The method of operations is as follows:
Certain agents in New York take orders for clothing to be made in London, charging on their bills as much for "freightage." The unsuspecting buyer supposes this "freightage" covers the duty also,
as it is handsomely put high enough to give that impression. The agent having taken his customer's measurement and the goods having been selected, the order is sent off to London. The clothing is then made up and is brought over in care of some employee on one of the ocean steamers. In New York the packages are kept well out of sight for a day or two after the vessel lands, and are then slipped ashore in bundles of washing. In this way the clothing reaches the New York agent in the course of a month or two;
and the buyer, who knows nothing of this smuggling process, receives notice of the arrival of his clothing.

Now, the fact that these smugglers will run the risk of detection and punishment—$5,000 fine or five years' imprisonment—disposes very effectually of the pretense that clothing is cheap here. If prices were the same here as abroad, the smuggler's occupation would be gone—just as the occupation of McKinley himself would be gone. For this reason neither the smuggler nor McKinley believes in having things cheap here.

These smuggling cases have called out a mass of information as to the comparative cost of clothing here and in England. A man who signs himself "A Victim" writes a letter to one of the New York papers in which he makes this statement: "I can buy suits in London at from three to four guineas, or from $16 to $21, which cost in New York from $45 to $55. I cannot get quite as good a fit, but I do secure better material and more durable work. Now the cost of these articles to the tailor in London must be at least one-third less, or say about $10 for the $16 suit and $15 for the $21 suit. The duties amount to from $3 to $7.50 to the tailor, or possibly even less.
Charging me from $5 to $10 per suit for transportation, etc., he still has a profit left him, and is able to undersell the American tailor by a very considerable amount."

An American missionary at home from South Africa on a vacation reports that even in that remote quarter of the globe clothing costs about half what it costs here, although it has to be shipped all the way from England.

The writer of this article can give a case from his own experience. Passing through London three years ago he had a light fall overcoat made at one of the best known establishments on Regent street, the cost being $15. In the city of London proper clothing is still cheaper, as he afterwards found out. Now, in the winter of 1888-9 the writer was in Boston. He went one day into a tailoring establishment—one of the cheapest ones at that—to find out what would be the cost of the same coat in Boston. The tailor's attention was called to the quality of the goods—its soft, pliant character, evidence of the fine long clothing wool of Australia or the Cape.

"Now, how much would you charge to make me a coat like that?"

"Thirty dollars."

These smuggling cases and the Mc-Kinley bill together have stirred up the tailors in New York, and these men have recently held meetings to look after their interests. They saw their trade threatened by the smuggler on the one hand and by McKinley on the other.

At one of these meetings W. H. Kinney, who had been chosen secretary, gave an instance of how the proposed bill would affect American tailors. An overcoat, he said, which now, with the cost of making and a reasonable profit, could be sold for $62.50 would, when the bill became a law, cost $71.87, while a London tailor would be able to make such a coat and deliver it here for $44.40, including the duty. Tailors would be compelled to pay a duty on two and one-half yards of cloth, which if made up would come in free.

The tailors are very strongly opposed to that feature of the McKinley bill which allows American travelers to bring back $500 worth of clothing from Europe.

Nobody ever hears of an American who has clothing made just before going to Europe; but this same American always comes back home with a large stock of clothing, and very happy to be rid of high tailors' bills for several years.

At present the quantity of personal clothing which a traveler may bring in free is unlimited, but McKinley puts the limit at $500.

In the universal scramble for protection the tailors think that they also ought to get a turn at the wheel. They are opposed to allowing the traveler so much cheap clothing. A gentleman named Mitchell who knows says that McKinley's $500 limit "would mean that a man could bring in from one to five years' supply of clothing and could escape the duty on it, while the tailor here would be forced to pay duty on the cloth he imported. Moreover, figuring on the scale of duties laid down in the bill, a Philadelphia house had made all its arrangements to manufacture clothing on the other side of the ocean and then import the goods, paying duties, etc., but yet making a saving from the cost of similar goods to the American tailor of 18 or 20 per cent. The effects of such competition upon the American tailor could be easily imagined. Beyond any doubt he would feel it most keenly."

That does not look very much as if "clothing is as cheap here as in England."

Why is it that buys this foreign made clothing? Not the wicked Democrats and Marjumps alone. Republicans do it, too, for a man does not talk "patriotism" when he goes to buy clothing; he buys it where his dollar goes furthest.
Nobody ever accused the Union League club, of New York, of having any leaven of "British free trade" in it; but this Mr. Mitchell, in speaking of the agents of London tailors, says: "It is an open secret that a couple of months ago one of these emissaries of a London house made his headquarters at the Union League club, which ought to be one of the strongholds of protection, and carried on his business with much success."

This Union League "stronghold of protection" clearly does not believe that clothing is "as cheap here as abroad," but it believes in getting clothing as cheaply as possible. It plainly does not indorse the famous saying of President Harrison that "a cheap coat means a cheap man," or the saying of the Lord High Tariff Maker himself that "when merchandise is the cheapest men are the poorest."

Smuggling is wrong—artificially wrong—made so, that is, by statute; but the smuggler is a useful institution in his way—he performs a service to the country by proving beyond all doubt that the tariff raises prices. Every smuggler that is caught preaches a mute tariff lesson to the consumers of this land. He crushes the life out of the protectionist pretense that goods are as cheap behind the tariff wall as on the outside.

Unprotected Labor.

Manufacturers always go to Washington and ask for higher duties in the interest of their labor. How does it happen that congress found it necessary to protect labor from these same manufacturers by passing the contract labor law to prevent them from hiring the "cheap pauper labor of Europe" and bringing it here to compete with American labor?

In some of the mining towns of Pennsylvania the census enumerators found these "pauper laborers" wearing their number on their clothing. They are entered by numbers on the books of the company for which they work, their names being so far beyond our spelling and pronunciation as to form an agony unendurable to the bookkeeper. It is a well known fact that this is the most degraded and the worst paid labor in the United States. Has any of these cheap laborers ever been refused employment on the ground that he was too cheap, and that the manufacturer or mine owner did not wish to let him compete with the higher priced American labor?

The truth is that manufacturers and mine owners employ the cheapest labor they can get, provided only that it be efficient. Nobody can justly blame them for that. Every employer, by the natural laws of competition, is compelled to get as good terms as possible in procuring labor. The employer is compelled to act on this principle. But then he should not go to Washington and ask for higher duties "to protect labor" when he knows perfectly well that the labor market is open to the widest competition, that he himself will hire the cheaper labor, although when this cheaper labor was in Europe he held it up to the country as a great bughbear, as the "pauper labor" which must not be allowed to compete with American labor.

Laboring men know well enough that it is through organization that they get better wages, and that no case has yet been found where a protected manufacturer raised wages on the ground that congress had raised his protective duties.
Many cases, on the other hand, can be cited where a higher duty has actually been followed by a reduction of wages.

The protectionists raise their hands in holy horror at everything that looks like a "free trade scheme to ruin our industries." But the good Maj. McKinley himself now takes a hand at ruining industries by his high tariff bill. In anticipation of the passage of the bill by the senate Messrs. Balbach & Son, the owners of the great smelting works at Newark, N. J., are preparing to remove their entire establishment to Mexico.

A Caut. Maid.

Mistress (a very kind hearted one)—Did you drown the kittens as I directed, Marie?
Marie—Oui, madame.
"Did you warm the water?"
"Non, madame."
"What! do you mean to tell me that you drowned those poor little kittens in ice cold water! You cruel girl!"—Yankee Blade.

Sensible If Not Gracious.

An invalid lady of this city, noted for her wit as well as her amiability, says in a note to a friend:
"I am suffering from dropsy, and what do you think my wicked brother says? He says I ought to eat heaps of blotting paper."—Indianapolis Journal.

Both Better and Cheaper.

The Royal Baking Powder, as an actual fact, is the most economical in use of any made, because of its greatly superior strength.

Both the United States and Canadian Governments in the reports of their investigation of baking powders have published this fact officially.

The other baking powders known in this vicinity are shown by chemical tests to contain from 20 to 80 per cent. less levenging-gas than the Royal. So the Royal, even should it cost more than the others, would be much the cheaper.

In addition to this the superior flavor, sweetness, wholesomeness and delicacy of the food raised by Royal Baking Powder would make any difference in cost insignificant.

When the Royal makes finer and more wholesome food at a less cost, which every housekeeper familiar with it will affirm, why not discard altogether the old-fashioned methods of soda and sour milk, or home-made mixture of cream of tartar and soda, and use it exclusively?
